

care reform to happen now. In my district, almost half of my constituents go without insurance. They face some of the most expensive costs and are afflicted with high rates of chronic diseases, such as diabetes and heart disease. Congress has neglected these problems for far too long. Those that are suffering the most and need the most care do not have access to the affordable coverage they need.

What's in it for you? Stability, security and quality. Let me summarize our Democratic plan like this: No discrimination for preexisting conditions like diabetes, heart conditions or cancer. No drop in your coverage because you become sick. No refusal to renew your coverage if you've paid in full and become ill. No more job or life decisions made based on loss of coverage. No need to change doctors or plans if you like the coverage you have. No copays for preventive and wellness care. No excessive out-of-pocket expenses, deductibles or copays. No yearly or lifetime cost caps on what insurance companies cover.

I urge my colleagues to support the Democratic proposal.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. KINGSTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KINGSTON. Mr. Speaker, how does Speaker PELOSI plan to pay for her $1.2 trillion government takeover of health care? Simple—higher taxes, higher premiums and cuts in Medicare. What does this mean to mom and dad back home? It means 6 million will be forced off of their Medicare Advantage Program. It means their doctor will now be assigned to them by a government bureaucrat, not by their own choice.

In the rural area that I represent, they're facing $83 billion in cuts, so rural nursing homes will close down. And for seniors in Medicare part D, a 20 percent increase in drug costs.

This is not a good plan. If the kitchen sink is leaking, you don't take a wrecking ball to the whole kitchen. You fix the sink. We need targeted, market-oriented reforms to make health care more affordable and more accessible for everyone, especially our seniors on a fixed income.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. REICHERT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. REICHERT. Mr. Speaker, so much is at stake, and the well-being of Americans is on the line. And it's clear that we need health care reform, but that reform must protect and strengthen the health care of all Americans.

The current overhaul bill would make $500 billion in cuts to Medicare, $156 billion in cuts to Medicare health plans and would affect 14 million Americans across this Nation. This is not the kind of reform we need.

Also, Mr. Speaker and seniors, pay close attention to this: There is an unusual advocate for these massive cuts to seniors' health care. It's AARP, who receives nearly 40 percent of its revenue from selling health insurance products. Why would AARP support a bill cutting benefits for its members? Are they truly looking out for the best interests of seniors? Could it be that AARP has a hidden profit agenda?

This morning's Washington Post explores this issue in an article entitled, AARP: Reform Advocate and Insurance Salesman. I urge people to read it. I do believe there is a conflict of interest here, Mr. Speaker, and I will continue asking the questions necessary to ensure we protect our seniors' health care.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. TIBERI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TIBERI. Mr. Speaker, throughout the course of this debate on health care, we've heard a lot about cracking down on waste, fraud and abuse. I support that. In fact, I wrote a letter to the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and the chairman of the Government Reform Committee asking that we hold hearings on the issue. I haven't heard back. Why would we need hearings when this bill now is being written behind closed doors, behind closed doors for no one else to see?

And it appears to me, Mr. Speaker, that the majority's plan for paying for this in part is on the backs of seniors. In my district, a third of my seniors are on Medicare Advantage plans. They like what they have. Under the Democrat bill, they will not be able to keep it because it will be cut.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we can only guess at this point what the health care bill will look like because it's being written behind closed doors. Only time will tell. So much for openness and transparency.

PROPOSED HEALTH CARE REFORM HURTS SENIORS

(Mr. BOOZMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. Speaker, we need to contain the cost of health care to make it more affordable for all Americans, but we cannot do this by cutting the services to our senior citizens. We have the responsibility to ensure that we don't harm the health care they currently have through Medicare. But the legislation supported by the White House, Speaker PELOSI and Senator REID doesn't protect that care.

Included in this health care plan is more than $162 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage. More than 25,700 residents of Arkansas' Third Congressional District are enrolled in this program, and I know the positive impact it makes in the lives of Arkansans and all American seniors. This is bad practice to cut from critical services like Medicare Advantage and something that I cannot support.

Rather than cut services, we need to examine how we can save money by getting rid of the waste and fraud in Medicare. Mr. Speaker, we can craft a bill that allows access to quality and affordable health care without sacrificing services to our seniors.

COMPETITION

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, there's been a lot of talk about choices and competition recently. We're hearing now that some on the other side of the aisle want to rename the "public option" the "competitive option."

Will the competitive option negotiate with doctors like private insurance? No. Will the competitive option be subject to thousands of different State mandates on coverage? No. Will a competitive option be subject to State and local taxes? No. Will the competitive option face an endless assault of lawsuits costing billions of dollars? No.

Senate Leader REID has brought forth a bill that would allow individual States a choice to opt out of the competitive public option. What we're not sure of is whether people in these States will be able to opt out of the billions of new taxes mandated by the bill. Like most Federal programs, the States will either accept the program or watch their citizens' tax dollars go to other participating States.

The government option offers few choices, and its competitive advantages will mean that in a very short time, millions of Americans will end up with no option, just the government.

SENIORS AND HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Mr. ADERHOLT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ADERHOLT. Mr. Speaker, there is bipartisan consensus that Congress must help with affordability, with access and with the availability of health care for American families. There is no question that Congress must act and that we must address the issues, but the current Democrat health plan is not going in a bipartisan direction. Not only is the current Democrat health plan the wrong approach; it could harm various groups of Americans who need and who depend on quality health care the most.

One of the groups is seniors. In my home State of Alabama, seniors make up about 14 percent of the population. That's higher than the national average. The seniors in Alabama and all over America deserve something better than the government takeover of health care.

The House Democrat plan includes massive cuts to Medicare that will result in Medicare Advantage plans dropping out of the program, limiting seniors' choices and causing many to lose their current health care coverage, and cuts to Medicare Advantage will have an exceptionally harmful impact on seniors in rural areas.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message in writing from the President of the United States was communicated to the House by Ms. Wanda Evans, one of his secretaries.

SENIORS AND HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Mr. BILIRAKIS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, in my State of Florida, millions of seniors rely on Medicare for their health care, including 130,000 in my district alone.

On Monday, I held my annual seniors' health fair, which provides free health screenings to area seniors and which gives me an opportunity to continue getting their input on health care reform.

The overwhelming consensus from seniors in my district is that the Democrats' health care reform proposals would lead to fewer choices, to higher costs and to reduced quality. Of particular concern to many of the seniors I spoke with was whether they would be able to keep their existing coverage.

The House bill calls for $163 billion in cuts to Medicare Advantage, which is wildly popular with Florida seniors. The cuts will result in health care providers dropping out of the program, undermining choice and jeopardizing the more than 50,000 seniors in the Ninth District who rely on Medicare Advantage for their care.

We must not harm the health care seniors already receive.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. CRENSHAW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CRENSHAW. Mr. Speaker, it has been pointed out that our Democratic colleagues have been drafting this health care plan behind closed doors, in the darkness of night; but yesterday, one of them emerged in the Senate—the majority leader—and he announced the best way to proceed with this plan is to have a government option with an opt-out provision for the States.

What does that mean? Nobody knows. How do you opt out? Nobody knows. How long do you have to be in before you opt out? Nobody knows. What if all of the States decide to opt out? Nobody knows.

We do know a couple of things: Number one, we do know under this Democratic plan your taxes are going to go up. We do know under this Democratic plan your Medicare benefits are going to go down. We do know under this Democratic plan there are going to be more bureaucrats controlling your health care.

So they're trying to keep us in the dark, but we know enough to know this: This is a bad plan and there is a better way.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. AKIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. AKIN. Mr. Speaker, when people get into the details of health care, I think they sometimes miss seeing the very big picture. The big picture here is that the Pelosi and the Democrat health care plan has this final destination, which is that it's going to be run by some czar or commissar in the Federal Government.

I guess the question I have is: On what sense of faith is this decision made?

Is it the efficiency of the Post Office, perhaps, that inspires them or the compassion of the IRS, or is it, perhaps, the Department of Energy that was created to make sure we wouldn't be dependent on foreign oil or, perhaps, the Department of Education, which was studied some years ago, and it was determined in the study that, if a foreign power had done what the Department of Education has done to America, it would be considered an act of war?

Why do we want to destroy the health care system that 100 million Americans enjoy in order to just simply socialize it and to turn it over to some czar in Washington, D.C.?

That's an act of faith that's just too hard to follow.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. CHAFFETZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CHAFFETZ. Mr. Speaker, across this country, we have millions of people who are concerned. Deep in their bellies, when they go to sleep at night, husbands and wives are concerned about putting food on their tables; they're concerned about their jobs, their futures, their kids, and their country.

We have an opportunity to help them.

You listen to the Democratic side of the aisle, and you hear them say, Oh, just trust us—$787 billion on the credit card. That will help the economy.

It hasn't.

Unemployment is getting worse. It's over 10 percent in many parts of this country. Cash for Clunkers: Oh, yeah, that will be a great program. We'll pull money out of everybody's wallets, and we'll hand it to a select few. It hasn't worked.

I, for one, do not trust the Federal Government, and the one-size-fits-all, slam-it-down-your-throat Federal solution to government health care is not the solution for the United States of America. We need Americans across this country to rise up and to say, No, we are not going to stand for it anymore. We're going to be in control of our government.

May God bless the United States of America. May God bless the men and women, our troops, who are serving across this country.

HEALTH AND THE ECONOMY

(Mr. SOUDER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SOUDER. Mr. Speaker, we are actually having a debate today far beyond health care, far beyond the economy. Not many businessmen are probably listening to this debate as they're too busy working to make a profit so other Americans can be employed.

As we face rising unemployment in a stagnant economy, the Democrats propose a government takeover of health care and of taxes on small business to pay for that government takeover of health care. They have an energy proposal that will cripple American manufacturing and that will enact endless regulations, increasing the cost of making things in America.

On this floor, Democrats have repeatedly confused gross profits and net profits. In the student loan debate, the person before me even confused revenue with net profits. He said he was going to take the revenue from the private companies and use it for government purposes.

From the President on down the party line, there has been a philosophical attack on the concept of profit and capital. Government does not create jobs. It redistributes profits. Profits create jobs. Capital creates jobs. That is why our system is called capitalism. This economy cannot recover if the leadership of our country has no basic understanding of how our economic system works, and we will not have growth by destroying the capitalist system.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. CAMP asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, the health care of every American is too important to risk on one gigantic piece of legislation, especially one being written in secret and behind closed doors.

The Democrat plan, or at least the last time any of us saw it, was over
